SUFFOCATION KILLED HIM

After Drinking Nearly a Quart of Whiskey, Julius Ripe
Died

That Julius Ripe, a farm hand on the ranch of E. A. Golder of Westminster, died of suffocation, after having swallowed nearly a quart of whiskey within an hour, was brought out at the inquest held upon Ripe's body by Coroner Smith this morning. The jury deferred bringing in its verdict until this afternoon, that it might be determined whether or not there was anything in the whiskey.

The ounce of whiskey remaining in the bottle was tested today for "knock-out drops," etc., and none was found. Ripe had been on the ranch about a month. Thursday Golder's foreman returned from Los Angeles, bringing a quart bottle of whiskey with him. From it he took a drink. Ripe got the bottle and went to his room, and within an hour's time drank all but about an ounce of the whiskey. He was found dead, face down, his nostrils and mouth over his arm. The autopsy showed that the man died of suffocation.

FOUND DEAD ON STEPS OF HIS OFFICE

Dr. J. G. Bailey, Pioneer Physician of This City, Died Suddenly Last Night

PROBABLY DEAD AN HOUR WHEN FOUND

Key Left in Door Led Daughter to Look for Him About 10:30 O'clock

Dr. Joseph G. Bailey, a pioneer physician of this city, died suddenly at his home, 603 North Broadway, last night. He was found upon the steps of his residence at about 10:30 o'clock by his daughter, Miss Kassa Bailey. Heart trouble was the cause of death.

Dr. Bailey had not been feeling well for two or three weeks, and had been receiving treatment from a specialist in Los Angeles. Last evening he went to the postoffice at about 8 o'clock, saying he would return in a short time. At about 9 o'clock he was at the corner of Sixth and Main talking to William McKinley, the two having walked homeward that far together.

Miss Bailey arrived home from the theater at about 10:30 o'clock. She found Dr. Bailey's key in the door, which she thought unusual. His hat was in the house. Miss Bailey went to her mother's bedroom, and learned that her father had not returned. She went downstairs, and turned on the porchlights, and found Dr. Bailey dead upon the steps of his office.

Ben Riesland and Paul Pieper, who were passing, helped carry the body into the house. Physicians were called. They said life had been extinct for some time.

The indications are that Dr. Bailey on arriving home had an attack of heart trouble and went outside on his office porch for cool air, and there died.

Dr. Bailey came to Santa Ana about thirty-three years ago and was Santa Ana's pioneer physician. He was active in many public enterprises. He was president of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, in which society he took a great interest. The funeral will be held from the residence at 2:30 o'clock next Monday afternoon.

Dr. Joseph Giffen Bailey was a native of England. His parents moved to Canada when he was quite young. He graduated in medicine from the University of Toronto and McGill Medical College, Montreal, and in Europe.

He came to Santa Ana from Port Huron, Mich., in 1876.

He was baptized into the Baptist church in Toronto, and was a member of Spurgeon's Tabernacle, when he lived in London.

Dr. Bailey is survived by his wife, daughter of the late Rev. Hugh H. Willson and Mrs. Willson, of Sincow, Can., and his daughter, Kassa V. M. Bailey, his sister, Mrs. Samuel Lukes of Toronto, and two brothers.

OAKLAND, April 30.—District Attorney Donohue declared today that the death of McCarthy following a prize fight in San Francisco last night would not effect the Jeffries-Johnson fight at Emeryville.

"Fightings have been held legal," he said. "Until the legislature passes a law against it, I must permit the fight. McCarthy's death is entirely irrelevant to the coming championship fight."

GOVERNOR SAYS NOT HIS PROVINCE TO INTERFERE

The officers of all Ministerial Unions here have declared they will petition the governor to stop the Jeffries-Johnson fight, as a result of McCarthy's death. Mayor Alexander declared his willingness to do anything in his power to aid the movement. Bishop Conaty of the Catholic Diocese of Monterey and Los Angeles, went on record as personally opposed to prize fighting in the state.

Investigators Prove Actual Conditions by Purchase of Girls

The purchase of these "white slaves" was made through an assistant district attorney and two college women. The girls sold for white slaves were from 12 to 17 years of age.

BALLINGER'S COUNSEL IN SCATHING ATTACK

Vertrees Makes Accusation of Conspiracy by Pinchot and Garfield

SAYS FIGHT IS BEING WAGED AGAINST TAFT

Fierce Words Brought Out by Committees Decision on Summary

WASHINGTON, April 30.—A heated and direct accusation that ex-Secretary Garfield, ex-Chief Forester Pinchot and others had engaged in a political conspiracy to overthrow President Taft, "who is distasteful to them," was made by Attorney Vertrees, Secretary Ballinger's counsel, before the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation committee.

He referred directly to Ballinger's opponents as "sordid souls" who are bound to political parties and who represent a miserable spirit that will tear down and destroy any man of respectability.

He alleged the Ballinger prosecution's methods as a "bitter denunciation," and declared the system employed had been inaugurated by Attorney Brandeis, Louis R. Glavis' counsel.

Vertrees, who is Ballinger's personal representative, said while arguing against the admission of the summary, that it is no longer a question of Ballinger alone but that the attack is also directed against persons connected with the president and others; that it was prompted by the resentment of a man who once was secretary of the interior but was not retained and by another man who was antedated, but argued that it had no bearing in the case.

Summary Admission Denied

The Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee refused the request of Attorney Brandeis that they order the Wickesham summary of the findings in the case of the Glavis charges and other papers tending, to show when this summary was prepared to be brought before the committee.

Chairman Nelson declared that he realizes that this is an important matter, but will not permit the committee to decide until the opposing counsels trash it out among themselves. Brandeis alleged the summary was dated September 11, but that attempts to answer the charges made by Glavis in the following November.

TUESDAY WILL HEAR MOTIONS

Case, Hinze Co. Restrained
From Disposing of Sugar
Company Stock

On Tuesday of next week the superior court will be occupied with hearing arguments on two motions to be made in the two Case, Hinze Co. suits, Monaghan against the Case, Hinze Co. and the Southern California Sugar Co., and Hadsall against the Case, Hinze Co.

Yesterday afternoon the attorneys for Monaghan filed an order to show cause and a temporary restraining order signed by Judge West. The order is to the defendants, members of the Case, Hinze Co., to show cause why the temporary order, issued on April 26, restraining them from disposing or encumbering the 1860 shares of the sugar company stock should not be made permanent, pending the outcome of Monaghan's action against them.

This same stock, which was issued to the Case, Hinze Co. as part payment under the contract to build the factory, is under attachment in the Hadsall suit, and Tuesday is set as the day for the hearing of the motion of the defendants to lift that attachment.

A short time ago the defendants filed affidavits declaring that the stock is valued at far more than $115,000, the judgment asked by Hadsall. Counter-affidavits will probably be put in on the plaintiff's side.

Chicago Expert Says Colonel
Swope Did Not Die of Natural Causes

DR. HALL GIVES SAME
EVIDENCE AS TO DEATH

Testified that Typhoid Fever
Epidemic Apparently Rose
From Mass of Germs

KANSAS CITY, April 30.—Professor Hektoen, the Chicago toxicologist who examined Col. Swope's viscera and dead body, testified today in the trial of Dr. Hyde, charged with Swope's murder, that the examination showed no evidence of death from disease.

Answering a hypothetical question he stated that it was his opinion that death was caused by a paralyzing poison or a combination of poisons. Strychnine and cyanide of potassium, he said, are such poisons.

Testimony of Dr. Hall

KANSAS CITY, April 30.—Dr. Frank L. Hall, a pathologist who assisted Dr. Hektoen of Chicago, to make an autopsy on Col. Thomas Swope's body on Jan. 11 and later investigated the source of the typhoid epidemic that swept through the Swope family, was on the stand yesterday. He said that both Colonel Swope's kidneys were congested, atrophied and granular. In answer to a hypothetical question, Dr. Hall said that he would declare that a man with such symptoms had been poisoned.

On re-direct examination he said there was nothing about the organs to indicate a death from natural causes. He also testified that he was unable to discover any source of the typhoid fever epidemic, and that it had seemed to him at the time as if a mass of germs must have been introduced by some one bent on scientific experiment.

This will make the harvest earlier than ever before and beans will all be threshed before the early fall rains, which in past years have ruined many beans caught out.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is not a patent medicine or secret nostrum, a full list of its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. A glance at its formula will show that it contains no alcohol, or harmful habit-forming drugs. It is a fluid extract made with pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength, from the roots of the following native American forest plants, viz., Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherry bark, Queen's root, Bloodroot, and Mandrake root.

The following leading medical authorities, among a host of others, extol the foregoing roots for the cure of just such ailments as the above symptoms indicate: Prof. R. Bartholow, M. ## FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH TO BE DEDICATED TOMORROW

Tomorrow is dedication day at the First Christian Church on the corner of Broadway and Sixth streets in this city.

The fine new church building, in use now for four months, is to be the scene of formal exercises of dedication. These exercises come upon the anniversary of the dedication of the old church building, the one occupied by the congregation before the handsome building now completed was built. The dedication of the old church, as it may be designated, took place about twenty-three years ago.

The new building was carefully planned and the details of its construction were watched by the building committee closely with a view to making the church exactly what was wanted. The end in view was accomplished.

Building began last July. The church was occupied the first of the year, but dedication was delayed on account of the fact that the pews did not arrive. Delay in the East kept back the installation of the pews until recently. Everything is now in readiness for the services.

The main portion of the old church was incorporated in the new building as a Sunday School room.

The church represents a valuation of $16,000. Its seating capacity, with auditorium, Sunday School assembly room and class rooms, is 1,000, which is as great as any church in the city. The First Christian Church was founded about a quarter of a century ago. Among the early ministers were Revs. Hand, Garvin, Connell and Wylie.

Rev. T. D. Garvin was pastor when the old building was dedicated.

Among the organizers of the church were A. H. Thomas and F. M. Gist.

Rev. A. F. Roadhouse, the present pastor of the church, has won a warm place in the hearts of his congregation, and under his leadership the church is prospering.

A SLAP AT ROOSEVELT

Evidently the French nation is not a unit in rendering homage to Roosevelt. There are not lacking those who call him a "charlatan," and one ultra-clerical writer goes so far as to designate him as a "demagogue," who, "with all the skill of a Barnum is arranging for his reappearance upon the American stage." This French writer also takes a shot at this country as a whole, declaring that "American imperialism will soon end in Caesarism," and Roosevelt is the Caesar who is to seize the reins of government.

There are people even in this country who seem to entertain opinions somewhat like those of our Latin friend over the waters, but they are quite shy about expressing them. It is barely possible that the vast majority of the American people and of the world at large, including some of the greatest statesmen and men of letters of the age, are mistaken in Theodore Roosevelt, and that the French writer and the few dissenters in this country are right. It is, however, not probable.

It would be a terrible thing if, after all, Roosevelt should turn out to be a mere political juggler, instead of an honest friend of the people. We would never know who to trust in the future, and it would almost demonstrate the futility of democratic government. Public confidence would receive a shock that it would take long to recover from.

It will be remembered that directly after the election of Taft the report gained currency that the Roosevelt administration was to go out under a cloud of popular disapproval. This much was certain to happen, said rumor, and it might develop into a violent storm of indignation against the retiring president and his policies. It was thought in some quarters that this had all been arranged for and was sure to come off as scheduled. It was expected that it would have a demoralizing effect on the incoming administration, which was formally committed to the Roosevelt policies. Some approval failed to materialize. There must have been a miscalculation. It may have been that the game was blocked by some counter move.

In the meantime, the object of the proposed disapproval has been gaining in favor with the people, even while in the jungles of Africa. He is getting bigger all the time. He is courted by kings and everywhere hailed by the populace.

But hark!—a piping voice from Paris rises in a feeble but discordant note. Roosevelt is a Barnum, the voice tells us, who is touring Europe in an advertising trip for his final reappearance on these shores. Is this philippic a part of a program that has originated and is to have its final scene enacted in this country? Will this Frenchman's screed find an echo here? Inasmuch as the lions and tigers did not "do their duty" are the bulls and bears of Wall street to undertake the job of putting an end politically to the man with the objectionable policies, and has this Frenchman sounded for them the key note of the campaign?

A "demagogue," a "charlatan," a "Barnum," are the accusations that are to be brought against him. Already has an oblique attack of this kind been made on this side, and it is none the less an attack because covert and indirect. What money, and the brains that money may be able to purchase, can do to reinforce such ideas in the minds of the American people will be done. There is a hint of this in the article put out by this Frenchman, which contains the following significant language:

"Is it possible that the former president intends to plunge again into the fight which has already provoked a crash of credit bankruptcy in the United States, and in which anarchy under cover of demagoguery may precipitate bloodshed, pillage and arson in industrial centers?" This sounds so strangely like the innuendos of "predatory wealth" that were hurled at Roosevelt when president that the suspicion is raised that the article was inspired from this side.

At any rate it is about time to take notice of the fact that Roosevelt gained his popularity from the battles he fought for the people against certain great financial interests that were and are still exploiting the public for private gain, and that these interests will not be the ones to agitate the atmosphere in his honor when he returns. The best these interests could do for Roosevelt would be to extend the hospitalities of a frost, and they would be glad to see him "snowed under" so deep that he could never dig out.

STRENGTH OF COMMON EVERYDAY FOLK

Judge Lindsey of Denver concludes his articles in Everybody's Magazine, in the May number, out this week.

The judge has laid bare the evil influence of "business" in one American city. There is no city in the land that is not being similarly corrupted.

Lindsey has shown how seekers for special privilege corrupt politicians, and how, to do so, the baleful influence is thrown around newspapers, courts, colleges, churches and schools. He has shown how, innocently no doubt, the pulpit and the university is made to work with the underworld to the end that some men or man may secure, through a franchise, an advantage over the common man.

When Lindsey started out his fight he appealed to those forces that are usually appealed to for "reform" things. That is, he went to the honest business men, the ministers, the teachers, the women (for in Colorado there is women's suffrage.)

But the banks, controlled by public service corporations, put the screws on the businessmen; the "pillars of the church" muzzled the preachers, the school board (boss-ruled) gagged the teachers and husbands warned their wives that political activity meant business persecution. "So," says the judge, "the best we got was confidential good wishes."

Then the real reform started. For Lindsey turned to the common people. He went to the men who were not "prominent citizens" and to the women who were not social leaders. He went to those who were merely earning livings at hard labor and rearing children to make the nation's next generation.

And these people knew they were being swindled by the gas company, and robbed by the water trust and maced by the street car monopoly. They knew their courts were loaded against them and their hard-earned tax money divided among political mercenaries.

Lindsey told them how the wheel was rigged and they did the rest. Those are the people and that is the way that decency is going to rule in this country—if it ever does. The other folks mean well, but just as soon as they begin to be effective they discern that they are enmeshed in unsuspected bonds. But the common everyday folks—God bless them—when they do get together and get really in earnest, are stronger than any net woven by "Big Business."—Los Angeles Record.

Some "Raisin Day" Facts

Today is "Raisin Day."

That is, we are to eat raisins, talk raisins, write raisins—the object being to educate people as to the value of raisins as a delicious and healthy food, and thus increase the consumption of this great California product.

Also the question of the price of raisins has been raised by a communication from Mr. Sam Hill to the Register, and a reply thereto from Mr. C. W. McNaught, published yesterday.

Mr. Hill made the point that, upon a recent visit to the great raisin growing section of the state, he found a thousand tons in the hands of the growers which they couldn't sell for 2½ cents a pound, and when he came home he found that raisins not so good as these cost 15 cents per pound or two pounds for 25 cents in the local stores. He blamed the "middle man" for this big difference between the price paid by the consumer and the price received (or asked) by the producer, saying:

"The jobbers in Los Angeles or San Francisco bought what they needed at two and a half cents, paid five-eighths of a cent freight and put the goods in their warehouses and when the retailer wanted some raisins (he didn't want many pounds because the price was so high the people couldn't afford to buy) he sent to the jobber and paid him nine cents a pound or more, and when offered to the consumer the complaint went with the goods that IT COSTS MORE TO LIVE than ever before 'since the war'."

In this we see nothing reflecting upon the retail grocer. But Mr. McNaught, of the splendid Parsons & McNaught grocery, thinks Mr. Hill's communication does "the grocers of Santa Ana a gross injustice." He interprets—in fact he says in so many words—that Mr. Hill charges the retail grocers with buying raisins at 2½ cents and selling them at 15 cents, a profit of 12½ cents, less cost of packing and carriage. We are sure Mr. Hill didn't say that, nor do we believe he meant to convey that impression. If we had understood or interpreted Mr. Hill's communication as charging the retail grocers with exacting exorbitant profits, we would not have published his communication, for we do not believe they make even a fair average profit on the goods they sell. Mr. Hill seemed to us to place the blame where we believe it belongs—on the packers, the railroads and the jobbers. That the producer does not get enough for raisins—and for many other products, for that matter—and the consumer pays too much we firmly believe.

However, the injustice to the local grocers—if Mr. Hill and Mr. McNaught are talking about the same quality of raisins—comes in Mr. Hill's statement that the grocers charge 12½ and 15 cents, while Mr. McNaught says the price is only 7½ cents. There is evidently a mistake of some kind at this point.

In this connection, some statements made in this week's Saturday evening Post, in an interesting article on raisins, are of interest. It appears that the packing process costs about 2½ cents a pound; that 3 cents a pound in the sweat box is a living; that 2½ cents a pound in the sweat box is below the cost of production.

The 2½ cent raisins spoken of by Mr. Hill must have been in the sweat box; to this must be added packing charges of 2½ cents and freight charges of 5¢ cent, giving the price to the Los Angeles jobber as 5½ cents, which is a fraction more than Mr. McNaught says they cost the retailer.

Something about the production and price of raisins during the past few years is obtained from the Post's article, referred to above:

From five and a half cent in October, 1907, the price of raisins at Fresno dropped to two and a half cents. The latter figure—below cost of production—obtained in May, June and July, 1908. Meanwhile, the thoughtless grapevines were producing another crop of ample size. About two-thirds of this new crop (of 1908) ought to have been marketed by January, 1909; but in February, 1909, there were seventy million pounds of the crop of 1907 still on hand. Result, raisins stayed at two cents a pound in the sweat-box—about two-thirds of a "living" price to the grower—and they have been near that price ever since.

Two somewhat comforting things, however, happened. In the first place, times became good again, and the consumption of raisins at this low price increased greatly. "From June, 1909, to January 1, 1910, more raisins were sold than ever before," says a packer. Then the crop of 1909 was only of moderate size, so, with increased consumption, the supply of old stock which prevented prices from rising is gradually diminishing.

Nevertheless, the growers have sold practically three crops at less than a living price.

The Gypsy Girls

The Gypsy Girls are rapidly perfecting themselves for the evening's performance of the Baby Show to be given next Saturday, May 7, at Spurgeon's Hall. They will be dazzling in their picturesque costumes, and it will be a puzzle to the audience to guess the identity of the Romany maidens that will sing the tuneful melodies of "The Gypsy Girl."

Unique Kitchen Shower

Miss Lowell Garnett, soon to become the bride of Mac Robbins, was the honoree at a kitchen shower at the home of Mrs. W. W. Crossier this morning. Thirty girls were bidden from 9 to 12 o'clock. Attired in gingham dresses and aprons, upon arrival they were taken into the kitchen and set at work preparing for the party, making place cards, setting and trimming tables out on the front lawn, stirring, mixing, baking, etc.

Then when the good things were entrusted to the ovens, the kitchen girls all went out onto the lawn and proceeded to shower the bride. First came "Angelina," kitchen maid for new home, a broom with a painted pie tin for a face, and neatly gowned in crash toweling, apron and sun-bonnet. She had dish mops for arms, clothes pins for fingers, and altogether was more clever and useful than beautiful. At her feet were deposited blue and white granite pans, basins, kettles, bake dishes and measuring cups.

Word came from the kitchen that it was time to find places at the tables. Only a few tastes were necessary to convince everybody that "Too many cooks had (not) spoiled the broth."

The morning concluded with toasts to the bride, with Miss Grace Parker as the successful toastmistress. The toasts and the toastmistress were clever, as were the jingles that accompanied the gifts.

The place cards, made by the girls, bore the name and the couplet, "He loves me—He loves me not," and a marguerite was attached, by which each girl tested him. Miss Garnett's place was marked by a bride built up on a potato masher, with a spoon for a face, cheese cloth wash cloths for a dress and the trailing bridal veil.

His Eighth Birthday

Master William Mateer was a happy boy yesterday, when his eighth birthday made him the proud possessor of a real watch and a wheel, and the honored guest at a family birthday dinner at Grandpa and Grandma Mateer's home on Orange avenue. The dear little fellow had just the best time he has known in his short life, and all of the friends of the family circle and of the little fellow hope he will have many another happy celebration of his natal day.

To Meet Maiera

The Maiera of Los Angeles, will battle with the locals for the first time this season. Stone and Hinrichs will each pitch half the game for the Yellow Sox, while Meats will be on the receiving end. Cayce will be taken off third base and Jansing will be given that position. The penant race is getting interesting now, with Santa Ana and Redondo tied for first place. It looks as if these teams will have to fight it out unless some of the weaker clubs take a brace. The game will be called at 2:30 tomorrow.

JUDGMENT GIVEN TO THE DEFENDANT

Judgment in favor of the defendant was given yesterday in the superior court in the suit of Cecil Dubois and A. G. Thurston against L. I. Padgham. Attorney Harding appeared for the plaintiffs and Attorneys Scarborough & Forgy for the defendant. Judgment was given on the ground that the plaintiff had not put in an amended complaint within the time allowed by the court, the defense asserting that the amended complaint was shoddy under the door of the attorney's office, which is not necessarily legal service of a document in this state.

COMPANY L'S PLAY WAS MUCH ENJOYED

Performance by Local People Pleased the Large Audience

Company L's play, "Cab 71," was put on in an admirable manner at the Grand Opera House last night, showing a careful training and surprising talent. The house was well filled, and the audience went away pleased with the performance.

To review the performance as it should be reviewed would occupy much space, for each individual of the cast is deserving of special mention.

The leading parts were taken by Mrs. F. M. McClay, who was an altogether attractive Miss Betty Annesley, and David O. Todd an admirable Lieutenant Robert Worburton. The stage art shown by them was of the professional order. Louis W. Chaudet, the director of the play, took the part of Monsieur Pierre, the chef, in a manner that attracted particular attention.

Miss Mame Winans, Miss Helen Hofer and Miss Olga Conwell maintained a high standard throughout, and their friends hope to see them take part again in similar productions.

We Have NOT Quit Business

Several people have called us up and asked if we had quit business. We want to make known the fact that THIS place did NOT and does not intend to leave town. Our business is good and Santa Ana is good enough for us. We believe its also good enough for you. Boost! Boost! is our motto. Help boost the old town. We are going to boost everything in Santa Ana (but our prices). They are going to remain as low as ever and now don't forget that if anyone says we left town it must have been some one else. Not us! Oh, dear, no, not us.

HOW THE SHOW FIGHTS TRUST

Campbell Brothers Circus is Coming to Santa Ana on May 3rd

There has been considerable newspaper comment lately that the circuses have come under the influence of trusts as has oil, sugar, beef, and all the other common necessities of life. There have been combines recently enacted, which the larger circuses of the country to a certain extent have joined, and which have been co-operating for the past three or four years for no other reason than to stamp out competition.

Their efforts have been successful to a certain extent, but, like a huge octopus, they are not satisfied unless they have their arms full. They are going to further ends to further their ends, and are putting up fierce fights with the lesser traveling show organizations of the country in what is known in the profession as "opposition."

This term is used to describe certain departments of the advance force of the ordinary circus, and means in itself fights for supremacy in the matter of advertising or "bidding" a show, which sometimes require the services of anywhere from ten to fifteen men. These men are used to watch over advertising matter placed on billboards, in windows, and on places where advertising banners are tacked. In many instances shows in opposition have been known to tear down other shows' advertising matter and place their own wherever the opposition has put any. For each lithograph, banner or advertising matter placed the owner of the property is given a matter of two or three courtesies, better known as tickets, to the main performance, and in accepting the tickets, bind themselves to protect the advertising matter left on their premises or in their windows, or wherever the advertising matter might be placed.

Just how much they follow out the contracts they sign is seldom known, but it is an easy matter, since they already have the tickets for another show to get the same space that belongs to the other shows. In that case the show last advertising generally has the space up until the show arrives, and the show that puts up its billing matter first, finds that its advertising matter is nowhere to be seen, and instead the billing and "paper" of the opposition appearing in and on the places where they hold contracts for until the arrival of the show.

In many instances, and the chances are that there will be more, circuses belonging to the "trust" have carried on underhanded means to stamp out all competition possible. Smaller shows have always found it necessary to jump to the territory where the larger shows would not appear for some time to come, and there remain until the larger shows threaten to invade that territory and then jump some place else.

Outside of one other, the Campbell Bros. shows are the fiercest opponents of the circus trust in America, and enjoy the well earned reputation of being the largest independent circus now in the United States. With the idea always in mind to honestly advertise and honorably conduct their shows, they have built up one of the best modern three-ring circuses of the day. In view of the many discouraging points in the show business the Campbell Bros. have probably had more to contend with than any similar organization. So successfully, though, have they faced the trials and tribulations that never fail to make themselves ever present, that their big new combined shows now have the reputation of being the cleanest, most moral circus now traveling.

No grafters, short change artists, "flim-flammers," and numerous devices practiced by many circuses in the past find a berth around Campbell Bros. shows. Strict business methods, discipline of the severest order, only equaled by the discipline of the United States army, and courteous attention and value received for the money, all have made the show a successful amusement enterprise.

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET

The first sweet corn that has made its appearance on the local market this season was reported from Imperial Valley yesterday morning. The corn was of good size and sold at the high price of $1 per dozen ears. There was a good call for Cuban egg plant, which brings 25 cents a pound right along. Red cabbage is another fancy vegetable on the market. It arrives from the north and sells ordinarily at 35 cents a pound. Three cars of Mexican tomatoes have been received in the past few days by a single firm and at least two other cars have arrived in the same time which readily explains the low price on the vegetable. Some stock is selling as low as $1.50 a crate. At this figure there is little profit after the cost of exporting these to Mexico and then importing them back with the added duty on the tomatoes of 1/2 cent a pound. This brings the cost above production on tomatoes to $1.50 a car.

There were no changes in any of the staples and sales were fair. Egg receipts were 410 cases. Local case count were the best sellers.

Butter arrivals totaled 36,057 lbs. Creamery extra and cooking stock sold better than others. Some eastern arrivals are expected within a very short time.

Cheese arrivals were 2476 pounds. The call for cheese was practically limited to Eastern varieties. No changes in quotations on any variety were reported.

Instead of growing smaller, potato arrivals seem to be on the increase. Yesterday 4895 sacks or about 17 cars of potatoes were landed in Los Angeles, among them considerable Idaho and some Nevada stock. This does not increase the value of spuds already on hand. No change in new spuds has been recorded in two days.

Onion arrivals were very light and the demand normal. Bean receipts were 350 sacks. Pinks and Lady Washingtons were the chief offerings of the afternoon.

Blackberries were down to 5 and 6 cents a basket. Strawberries sold as low as 50 cents a crate on packed stock. Loose berries, long stems sold at 7 to 10 cents a basket. Raspberries of good quality remained at 10 cents a basket.

Cherry receipts were another 100 boxes. Prices on the fruit were steady. It is expected that there will be a very abrupt drop on Monday or Tuesday morning of the coming week when receipts will increase largely.

The demand for fish were the best of the week and as a result the market was better cleaned up than it has been at any time in the past ten days. Even at that there is still a big surplus and receipts are so heavy that it will be impossible to keep some of the fish from going to the dump.

RESOLUTIONS ON SCHOOLS

Many Changes in School Law
Proposed by School
Men

R. P. Mitchell, county superintendent, and J. A. Cranston, superintendent of the Santa Ana schools, returned last night from the state association of school superintendents meeting at Riverside.

By resolutions adopted yesterday afternoon the association endorsed a large number of changes in the state school laws. These resolutions go to the state council of education, of which Prof. Cranston is a member, and if approved by the council the next state legislature will be asked to make the proposed changes.

Among the recommendations of the association are:

To allow $10 per census child instead of $7 as now.

To allow the county school superintendent to apportion $900 to each school district for the first teacher, and $550 for all other teachers. At present the apportionment is $550 for each teacher. The proposed change is to help out the one-teacher schools.

To give teachers indefinite tenure, a teacher's employment in a school to end only after valid objections have been filed by the trustees with the county superintendent.

To favor a retirement salary law. To allow trustees to send a member to institutes and pay his expenses. To provide health examination of students.

To allow union high school districts to issue bonds.

To deposit funds of joint school districts in the treasury of the county in which the school house is located.

To make 17 years the limit of age for compulsory attendance at school instead of 14, unless the child has finished grammar school.

To make unpaid warrants, when a district's fund is depleted, bear one-half per cent per month.

To elect school trustees the first Friday of May instead of April.

To allow superintendent holding joint institutes to spend seventy-five per cent of what his own institute would have cost.

Resolutions were proposed making the school census come every two years, electing school trustees for six instead of three years, allowing special taxes to be used on buildings.

ROOSEVELT DAM IS ABOUT COMPLETE

Arizona Irrigation Project Cost
$8,000,000—To Water
240,000 Acres

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The Roosevelt dam, the great engineering work in connection with the Salt river irrigation project in Arizona, is nearly finished, and at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon the United States closed down its cement plant at Roosevelt. The government entered into the manufacture of cement for the dam nearly four years ago, because of inability to obtain cement at reasonable prices. The engineers of the reclamation service say the mill has saved the government more than $650,000. The plant has turned out 330,000 barrels.

The reservoir, created by the dam, is the largest artificial body of water in the world. Its capacity is 61,000,000 cubic feet, and if its water were spread over the entire surface of the state it would cover the entire surface of the state a foot in depth.

The dam is 280 feet high, 180 feet long on top, and contains 36,000 yards of masonry.

A movement has gained headway to have former President Roosevelt open the dam on October 27, his birthday.

When completed the dam will cost $8,000,000. It will irrigate 240,000 acres, and it is estimated that the crops of a single season will return enough to repay the entire investment.

Facts From Ford

The First Automobile Ever Seen in Detroit was a Ford

The present Ford Motor Car Co. with no change in name or policy have been making Ford cars ever since the earliest days of the industry. One of the first half dozen cars built in America was designed and built by Henry Ford.

40,000 Ford Cars Have Since Been Built, and All Have Made Good

Buy a Ford car because it is a better car—not because it is cheaper. Its one of the most thoroughly tried out cars in America—there never was a Ford failure. The price is the result of immense volume and smaller profits.

Ford 5-passenger
Touring Car . . $1040

Ford 4-passenger
Tourabout . . . $1040

Ford 3-passenger
Roadster . . . $990

The above prices include top, curtains, wind shield, speedometer, gas lamps and generator, pump, tools and repair kit. Notice that Ford cars give you $150 worth of equipment not given with other cars. We can for a short time make immediate delivery of all Ford models.

Power, Comfort and Elegance are Desirable. All these you get in the Overland

In addition, moderate cost combined with efficiency and speed, but the crowning points of the Overland are SIMPLICITY AND CERTAINTY.

Consider its SIMPLICITY of control—literally as easy as walking. You put one foot forward to go ahead, to the rear for reverse. The high speed only requires a push forward with the other foot on another pedal. That is all there is to it. Either pedal disengages the other. It is impossible to get in two speeds at once, or to inadvertently get into reverse. Even if a mistake is made and the car is started on "high," it can do no harm. This is a CERTAINTY.

Three Overland models are exclusive pedal control. Two models of the 40 h. p. Overlands have selective sliding gear and are practically as simple. The clutch is so perfectly balanced that it can be disengaged by a push of one finger, and yet can never slip.

Overland 25 h. p. Roadster $1100; Overland 25 h. p. detachable tonneau $1200; Overland 40 h. p. Roadster $1450; Overland 40 h. p. 5-passenger touring car $1650—the peer of them all.
